POKEMON FULL OF FIRSTS!

Nintendo have announced that Pokemon Battle Revolution will be the first online game for the companies latest console, Wii. It is the first Wii game to include Nintendo Wi-Fi Connection play as well as the first Pokémon game for Wii!

DS FRIENDLY!

It is also the first game to link Wii and the hand-held Nintendo DS and the first Wii game that can be controlled using Nintendo DS. When Wii and Nintendo DS are linked, players can use their Nintendo DS units as controllers or import characters from the upcoming Nintendo DS games Pokémon Diamond or Pearl Version.

GET THE LOWDOWN!

Battle Revolution continues the line of console-based Pokemon battle titles that began with Pokemon Stadium and Stadium 2 on the N64, then continued onto the Cube with Colosseum and XD. The battle system hasn't changed much from those titles.

You face off against another trainer in a battle of Pokemon supremacy, making use of a small library of Pokemon in a one-on-one or two-on-two battle.

During battle, you make use of a variety of attack and defensive moves and can switch Pokemon in and out in order to best match up against your current foes.
